She has spoken with celebrities, authors, professional athletes, corporate executives, and world leaders on the subject of the source of truth and higher living. As she so bluntly puts it "I am not one to get over anything; I go through it!".

In her inspirational program, Living to the Power of YES! Tina Marie puts her followers in touch with their true potential, inspiring them to regain their personal power, live passionately, and create the life they truly want to live. Tina Marie has been a Houstonian since the tender age of two, when her family's car broke down on the 610 loop while on their way to California and since then, she has been an avid public speaker. She has contributed her grace, charisma and wisdom to all her life's endeavours ever since. She received her BBA from the University of Houston after studying deeply in the areas of systems analysis and design. A self described "geek who could talk business" Tina Marie had a very successful and lucrative career in the corporate world of high-tech consulting, until illness made her look for the deeper answers to the mysteries of life. With the knowledge she gained as a result of this experience and extensive training in holistic nutrition, she began trying to share her wisdom with others. This eventually blossomed into Tina Marie Jones having several of her own businesses and being the owner and "CVO" – Chief Value Officer – of The Life Mastery Group, an organization designed to provide trainings tailored to unleash a client's hidden power to succeed.

Tina Marie believes that "Life itself is our biggest teacher." Only when we have the tools at our disposal to use the experiences of our lives as the curriculum for our betterment, can we meet with success beyond our every expectation. In her latest work, Living to the Power of YES!, Tina Marie Jones engages audiences with entertainment, humor and deep-seated wisdom. Her direct, focused, insightful "YES!" formula teaches others how to turn their biggest obstacles into their greatest assets. Tina Marie Jones' light yet direct approach is highly effective for individuals and groups alike who are looking to create more value, happiness, and adventure in their lives or workplaces.
